Sabinet African Journals, supporting South African and African publishers since 2001, stands as the most comprehensive collection of South African and African journals, currently comprising over 385 active journal titles within its extensive list of over 600 journals.

Sabinet's aim is to establish a research platform that aligns with global trends, harnessing technological advancements and advanced search functionalities.

Benefits for choosing Sabinet African Journals:

- ✓ The ultimate source for electronic journals from South Africa and Africa. It's the most comprehensive and easily searchable collection of full-text articles available.
- ✓ An internationally recognised platform for journals that is both user-friendly and straightforward, while adhering to all international standards.
- ✓ Choose to have your title included in both the Core and relevant collections such as Business and Finance; Education; Labour; Law; Medicine and Health; Science, Technology and Agriculture; Religion and Social Sciences and Humanities.
- ✓ Sabinet's existing client base can lead to financial benefits if the business model is based on subscriptions.
- ✓ Third-party harvesting (Such as Google and other search engines) and library discovery tools enable content discoverability.
- ✓ Sabinet's team promotes your journal alongside other Sabinet products as well as through social media for increased exposure.
- ✓ The content of the journal is safely preserved in a well-established digital archive for long-term preservation.
- ✓ Sabinet processes, indexes and administrates your journal content on the Sabinet African Journals Platform.
- ✓ An exclusive webpage for online landing and usage analytics.
- ✓ If the journal meets the required criteria, full text can be converted into XML format and displayed as HTML.
- ✓ Open Access options are also available.
